PLANNED COMBINATION OF FCB BANKS

First Collinsville Bank and First County Bank (also known as FCB Banks), have announced plans to combine the banks under one name, FCB Banks. "This change formally combines our two banks together and streamlines operations under one name, FCB Banks, the name we have been known as for decades. Customers will experience no change as they conduct their day to day banking at FCB Banks. The ownership, management team, staff, technology, products, services, bank locations and hours will remain the same and customers can expect to receive the same friendly and professional service they have always enjoyed. This will also simplify the online and mobile banking experience and streamline service for our customers at all 14 locations," stated Mark Zavaglia, President. "We are constantly looking for ways to improve service to our customers. One substantial way we recently accomplished this was by changing our business cut off time for teller, online, mobile and ATM transactions from 3:00 pm to 5:00 pm, giving our customers more time to complete transactions each and every business day," continued Zavaglia.

FCB Banks has served the local area since 1901. We pride ourselves on being locally owned and operated and being a valued part of the communities we serve. FCB Banks, with 14 area locations, is committed to helping families, local businesses and communities grow by providing quality financial products and services. All decisions, including lending decisions, are made locally by professionals who live in our communities. For more information about FCB Banks, visit our website at fcbbanks.com.
